For the Third Year in a row, the Society for Information Display (SID) will once again bring back an engaging Panel Discussion, where Top Women Technology Executives and Innovators will share their Unique Insights on the State of the Display Industry and where it's going for Women in Silicon Valley. The Session, Women in Tech "" Leading in the Tech World, will take place directly following the CEO Forum on Wednesday, May 15 with a special reception at 5:30 p.m.

"For 2019, we are bringing back our Women in Tech Forum with a Dynamic New Group of Participants," said Sri Peruvemba, Chair of Marketing for SID. "While Women comprise half of the U.S. Workforce, they still hold less than 20 % of all Tech Jobs. Fortunately, our Industry is waking up to the Need of having more Women in Technology. They will also discuss the Challenges they have faced and where they see the Industry going."

The Electronic Display Industry is filled with Female Pioneers and Professionals who have made Outstanding Contributions to Technology. This year, more than ever, is an Ideal Time to hear this Diverse Panel of Movers and Shakers provide their Unique Perspectives about what makes the Industry tick, how they've gotten to where they are, and what more the Tech World needs to do to continue enabling Women from all Walks of Life to rise to their Potential.

Moderator : Jenny Donelan, Director of Marketing, Publications, and Programs for Palisades Convention Management
